
On Institutional Problems Resulting 1827(o-271 from 52)02 Committee on Financial Exigency ure, and the Committee on College and Un issued in 1971 and reissued in slightly rev includes revisions approved by Committee

-
1. There should be early, careful, and meaningful faculty involvement in decisions relating to the reduction of instructional and research programs. The

10. When financial exigency is so dire as to warrant cessation of operation, the institution should make every effort in settling its affairs to assist those engaged in the academic process so that, with minimal injury, they can continue their work elsewhere.

Notes

1. AAUP, Policy Documents and Reports 11th ed.